

SECOND KING of CIG
GUIDANCE ON THE EDUCATION OF YOUNG PEOPLE

2023. 07. 06

The Age of Groomers

You see what I'm saying? We're living in a different age now. We are living in a very dangerous warfare now. The parents heard about it and we report on it all the time in the King's Report, etc. But they don't want to believe it. That's the problem. They don't want to believe it.

You have to understand, this is not your era. They're now contacting you on phones. They get in the girl's DMs (Direct Messages), they're sending her pornographic pictures. They say, "Oh, you've never had sex before? This is going to be me banging your pussy," something like that. They will send her an image of this penis being rammed into the vagina. It's a porno, it's sending her an image of a porno. And it says, "This is going to be me, baby, ramming you and you're going to love it. You never felt anything like this." Within 30 minutes, they got like 20 pedos doing this to this eight-year-old baby.

So, you guys, you have to understand the type of warfare these kids are in. This is not your generation where you didn't have this kind of communication. The kids are in a literal war zone and you have to be aware of the weapons that are being used. If you don't, you're going to literally lose a lot of your kids in your nations to these groomers etc., because everybody's too shy to talk about it. Even though absolute sex was a key pillar of Father's teaching and he spoke openly about penis and vagina. That's a sanitary version; D and P is more the language Father used. That's the stuff he was talking about in front of the little children too, but he was always talking about it in terms of marriage, the beauty of marriage. You see?

That's why Vets4ChildRescue posts this kind of stuff so parents can educate themselves and see what kind of crap these guys are doing. If they're targeting a boy, for example, then they're going to send gay pornos to that boy's cell phone. They're going to send images, little GIF images, where a penis is being rammed up a guy's anus and maybe ejaculating inside and all the juice is dripping out. You understand? They're going to send those kinds of messages to your sons and grandsons and mine too. And they're going to be saying, "This is going to be me ramming your anus boy and you're going to love it. And then we're going to go out for ice cream, okay?" Do you understand? This is the reality.

So, in any of the education, you cannot be Catholic and prudish about sexuality. This has been killing the church, by the way, in the Western world. Everybody, all these priests and pastors who should be talking about this and warning their people, don't want to talk about it, and then the freaking groomers get them.

Especially for us, we know the fall; we know the nature of the fall. So, we have to absolutely teach the difference between absolute sex, bad sex; absolute sex, great, good, pleasure, beauty, amazing, marriage, relationship, romance, all the wonderful passion and power of love in there. "In bad sex, you see, that's the pornos. That's all the stuff your friends are trying to send you. That's all the stuff these pedos, the groomers are trying to send you. This stuff will get you killed. This stuff will lead you to Satan. This stuff will lead you to destroy your body. This stuff will lead you to get AIDS." You see I'm saying? This is what they're getting.

I mean, you have to understand that the landscape now is very different. You guys got to check out Craig Sawyer and check out some of those posts, especially where he shows... he blurs out the images, but you can still kind of see them. I mean, they're sending hardcore porn to little, little children. You have to understand. That's the landscape you're trying to raise your kids in. And the church is trying to educate kids in this type of warfare landscape.

That's why we got to be super, super proud of absolute sex. Super, super proud of awesome, amazing sex life in marriage and romance in marriage. We have to be high level at that too, as husband and wife, so the kids actually believe what we're saying. We can't have a wrecked marriage and all the kids don't see any passion there. And then talk about how great your marriage is going to be. They're not going to believe you.

You're fighting a cultural spiritual war with Satan's sex culture and the Catholics and the Protestant can't do anything about it because they don't talk about any of this stuff. They're all too scared of it. But as people who know True Father and Divine Principle, my gosh it's the key of the Divine Principle, Chapter 2, the root of all evil! And all the evil networks of the world use it. You know what I'm saying? So, that has to be absolutely part of education because you are in a sexual cultural war. Who will win? Can you convince the kids in your country to pursue marriage? Or is that boring? The whole world's telling them to bang this girl, bang that boy, bang this animal, bang this crap, go after kids. That's fun. That's the whole world saying that.

Father's Teaching on Absolute Sex

Right? So how do you compete with that? Well, it's what Father gave us, absolute sex. We have absolute sex in marriage and romance. But you have to have people that are very excited about their marriage and all that. The children have to be able to see that because they're going to get the content, but they're going to watch the couple. Is the couple hot on fire with the Holy Ghost and have a great marriage and they can feel that love? You know, so that's important, and that's going to be more and more important as we go.

That's why we're training up the young people here to train in their marriages a lot. You know, like doing the romancing, having a great sex life. That is absolutely key to holding civilization together, but also convincing the next generation that, "Hey, sex in marriage is way better than this crap. That stuff looks fun, but it's going to wreck your body; it's going to give you STDs, and all that stuff. No! Marriage, absolute sex; this is the power. This is the beauty. This is why you got penis and vagina. You got this for this reason; not to play around like that. For this reason. It's called marriage, it's called the Blessing, it's called the covenant with God, but it's also called a tremendous, tremendous blossoming of sexuality in your marriage."

Don't be scared of sex! Tell them, because if you don't, they're already watching porno anyway.

How We Moon Boys Grew Up

Thirty-four armed guards were paid to keep us there (In the East Garden property). And our brothers shot at us for fun. (Laughing) People don't understand that. You know, you can't raise the blessed children too soft. Obviously don't shoot them with BB guns, or anything like that. I'm not saying to do that, okay. It made us tough, but it made us realize, "Okay, you don't go around that corner because that's big bros' window and a gun may pop out of that window." In a suburban white community like Westchester County, shooting out of your window is unheard of. Our big bros would shoot out the window all the time. It's not weird. That's why when we come down South, they say we're like the rednecks; we're the Korean hillbillies. We shoot off our deck, we shoot out the window. They're like, "Dang, you Koreans!"

But people don't understand. That's how we Moon boys grew up. You know, we're riding quad runners. You go around the wrong big brothers' window; they're going to shoot at you because you're too loud or they're angry or whatever. It's very random. You get beat up. If you walk in front of them in front of the TV, they'll whoop you. They will whoop you. They locked us in closets for like hours and hours and hours at a time. Just for fun. And we could never leave the place.

If you can digest that, then you become stronger. If you cannot, you get all sorts of psychological illnesses, which unfortunately, most of our family has. Me and Kook J-hyung, we're the only normal ones. Kook J-hyung got out of that by doing business; I got out of that by going to the dojos. That was my outlet out of that, to go to the dojo, play outside. That's why I liked playing outside. I didn't like video games because I would still be in the house and I could run into a dangerous situation. So, I liked getting outside, playing outside, skateboarding, going to martial arts, whatever.

And then of course, the dojos, because In Jin-nuna had her husband whoop us if we got under a B plus. B plus? Come on, that's an 88! I never got above 60. I was getting whooped all the time. That's why I started the combat martial arts because I did not want to keep on getting whooped, and to that former brother-in-law I said, "If you touch me I will kill you because now I have the skills to do it." But I literally had to do that for self-defense because nobody protected me.

Importance of Training

That's why training is so important. Father always trained us. We did the Amazon jungle training. We did the Kodiak and Kiniak training. Father was always using nature as a training ground. And of course, he said that in the Kingdom, every child over five years old has to be in martial arts. Most of the parents in the church did not actualize what Father said.

Part of the curriculum of a child growing up is martial arts training from five years old. That's what we're doing here. We're developing a softer martial arts training from five to like twelve, but then from twelve now they can start training the real stuff: boxing, Muay Thai, Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu, wrestling. They're really learning how to fight and defend themselves and defend others.

But they're learning how to fight with the proper moral stance of "Love God, love your neighbor." That's the pledge. Every time we train, the kids have to make a pledge that they don't use these skills to bully or to oppress, but they use it to defend. You know what I'm saying? And of course, they use the training and discipline they learn in a martial arts training to do what? Protect their sexual organ. They actually make that pledge every time they train. I don't know if you guys are aware of that.

The Kingdom of God CIG Culture

About those kinds of curricula, you should talk to Victor Moon and get those pledges and stuff to your younger youth groups because otherwise they're growing up detached from the Kingdom culture. You know what I mean?

You want to make sure you don't just do your nation's cultural thing. We have a Kingdom of God Cheon Il Guk culture and you want to plug into that and make sure you're trying to reproduce that in your nation. Otherwise, you're just following along with whatever culture your nation has, and that's going to be different. And your kids are not going to be part of Cheon Il Guk culture.

So, you want to make sure that you're plugging into all the different training that is done here and trying to implement that at a secondary level where you're at, and then take advantage of the Academies that we're starting up again once we build the Grand Sanctuary here. We will keep that up, then you can send kids to do the training here. We'll have 40-day training. Also, Erikawa Kaicho requests a one-week training; that's a little too short, a little too easy, but anyway, we'll make it hard.

And the kids have to sign. We make them sign, "you're coming here not because your parents forced you, but because you want to come." See, we don't like it when the parents just force them to come and just pretend the church has to fix them. That's very irresponsible. We make the kids sign, "You are coming not because you're being forced by your parents and nagged by your mom to come. You are coming out of your own free volition to engage in the Academy training." They have to take personal responsibility. They could whine, "Hey! Mom sent me. Hey! Dad sent me. Hey! I'm being forced to." This kind of baloney. So, you want to make sure the young people are getting that good training.

The Kings' & Priests' Ministry

Also, we're going to be developing the motorcycle ministry and the men's ministry. We're going to be doing the deliverance ministry for men for the Rod of Iron Riders to start with, with very strong music worship. We'll do some of the very strong King Bullethead raps or something like that, and very hard kind of deliverance music, very, very, very, powerful to chase out demons. But no women or children allowed in that one. It's just for men.

A lot of women don't understand if you are married to an alpha male, he's leading your family so he doesn't want to have you or the children see him be weak and vulnerable. Now when he gets older, like 60, 70, they're more mature, they're okay with that. But not when they're in their 20s or 30s; they're still trying to grow and be strong as a man. They don't want to show weakness and that's fine. So, we have a place where the men can come together, they can still be strong, be hard and strong, but amongst their brothers; nobody will tell who cried and who got delivered of this spirit. There are no women watching you and gossiping about you or whatever. It's only the men and the brothers and we protect one another, so you can let it out and you can shout and scream, and whatever needs to come out can come out. And it's not in the presence of your children or your wife or anybody you are leading.

This is also something that men need. So, we're developing that for the males, to have that place where they can really cry out to God without watching the nunchi of the girls or the babies or the kids, etc.; without watching any nunchi. Being able to just be in front of Father's throne as a boy, as a son. No girls watching you, no kids watching you, and just your brothers all there to support you, and pray for you. And you can cry your eyes out to Father, you can shout, and we'll all help chase the devils out that need to be chased out.

This kind of thing is very important for the healthy, strong leadership of good kings and priests. We are also developing that for the men in our community because as people are now more and more realizing men are not robots. Men have all the realms that women have, but they don't want to express them the same way and that's fine; that's how God made us. But they do need that intimacy with the father.

But yeah, we're developing the kings' and priests' ministry for our males and our fathers, so that they get very strong worship sessions and demon-chasing training. So, they learn how to do hard praying and fervent praying, and exorcisms and fighting Satan. You know what I mean? But not in the presence of women and children; it's a training ground for them to be in a safe place. They don't have to watch anybody's nunchi, but they can be amongst their brothers and other strong men and other priests that are there praying for them. They can develop those skills so when they do go back home and they do go to their kingdom, they are equipped to fight Satan and to lead their pack to Kingdom come. Hallelujah!

We're developing those kinds of things, so you definitely want to stay plugged into the different trainings we are doing. So please contact Victor Moon and then have those systems brought into your communities. When we have the Academies, you can send the young people here. We'll do training with them. You know what I mean? That's a good opportunity for them to plug into the Kingdom culture.

We're going to try to set it up so each Academy has obviously a lot of different challenges that they have to do. Theological, mind-body unity, adventure-training, martial arts, all that kind of hard stuff, too. There's a whole bunch of stuff, there are a lot of challenges that they have to face, a lot of challenging the fears, but it's good training.

True Father & Training

A lot of the people start realizing, "Oh, what is this whole training culture the Second King is always talking about?" or whatever. No! No! We grew up in this kind of culture. Always Father made us do training. The Westerners, unfortunately never translate it as training. They call it "mind-body unity". You know, when Father said 훈련 hunlyeon, they would say "practice" or something like that. Practice and training are totally different. In practice, you're not accountable to anyone. In training, you are accountable to your coaches, your sergeant majors, your sergeants. You are accountable. You got people over you that are watching you, making sure you're doing it right. Training is totally different. It's a totally different level of responsibility when you use the word practice versus training.

You know, in Korea, when we say kunsa hunlyeon 군사훈련 or military exercises or training, it's literally the word Father would use for "mind and body training". He would use "training".

That's why he was so fanatic about hiking the mountain every day when he was in his 30s and 40s with the early church. You can hear it in Kang True Mother's testimony. Every single day he made them climb the mountain; every single day as part of their training. In the West you guys didn't see that because Father came in his 50s and 60s; he was older and he was going more towards fishing. But in Korea and Japan they saw Father hiking those mountains every single day. He was not just a pastor studying; he was leading his flock. He was physically making them do training every single day.

I don't know if you guys in the West know that, but Father at the Divine Principle workshops, he would wrestle the students; they would have wrestling matches and Father would wrestle. For example, Father would wrestle a man who was a top-level Korean wrestler, during the Divine Principle lectures. You see what I'm saying? You see how physical he is? This is what you don't want to lose. You don't want to lose this physicality of the Father because if it gets just too theological and too academic, you'll lose the flavor on the ethnicity and the taste of the culture of the Kingdom. You will lose the flavor and the culture of the Father. That's why he needs his lineage here, because we keep that alive. We grew up like that, and we need to teach our sons; we teach our boys to do that too. We pass that culture down and that's why the lineage is so important.

So, you really want to plug in. You don't want to just take your nation's culture and try to adopt it. That's not the Kingdom culture. You want to take Father's lineage, his Kingship culture; that's what you want to plug into and then try to adopt it in your nations. We want to change the nations towards Father, not change Father towards the nations. Amen! You know what I mean?

No Feminist Propaganda

For your young people, there will be something like the Rocky Mountain trek, that would be at 12,000 feet. We'll do section eight and nine again, that's about 38 miles, so it's right about 40 miles. And then it's 12,500-foot elevation; that's like the Swiss Alps level. Very, very, very dangerous. Many people die; every year, many people die in the Rockies because we also have the cougar, you know, the mountain lion, and the bears in there. And once you get in there, you can't come out; it takes like seven miles just to get out. Once they're in, they're in. So, it's very dangerous.

It requires a lot of training preparation and beforehand it's better. And a lot of mental toughness because all the kids want to quit. And the girls, they see the difference between girls and boys. The strength. Something this hard, a lot of the girls couldn't make it. Everybody vomiting. You know what I mean? And boys had to carry a lot of girls' packs.

But this is a good experience for girls to see that all that feminism stuff that teaches, "Women, you can be as strong as men," this is baloney. There's a big difference physically between men and women. That's why the combat arts, the real fighting arts, and of course, real hard stuff like this, it makes the young girls realize that, so they're not deluded. They realize, "Oh, I should respect men. I can't damn all men and buy into this feminine lie that I don't need men. That society doesn't need men and it should look down on them." That's an arrogant, wicked, wicked, demonic, fallen Eve ideology.

And if you do that, Islam is coming in. Because if you get rid of all the strong males in your society, Islam will come in and there are very bad, bad, bad alpha males coming. You want good alpha males; you want good Christian alpha males who are like Christ. If you get rid of those through feminism and the stupid satanic fallen Eve ideology, then the bad alpha males come in like Islam. And then the women are slaves. So, the girls really have to understand the propaganda that's all around them.

Different Kinds of Upcoming Training

This kind of physical training, that is almost like life and death. I mean air is so thin up there, you could pass out. One of the girls almost died up there this time, but her brothers saved her. They got the oxygen mask on her and were pumping the oxygen in, and she was resuscitated. Satan was really trying to destroy them, but You know by God's grace...

Think about this also: this was the first time these young people could do the training with the Third King too. And building those bonds of trust and brotherhood for his generation, his ministry, that was a big, big gift. And of course, he did a great job on the training as well.

That kind of training is coming up again next year, so we'll be organizing that. Kook Jin Nim is sending some of his kids and donating a very high-quality satellite phone so we can actually talk to the teams on the satellite phone, which is great. Just keep that in mind for your young people all across the world. They can come, but you want to prep them; you want them to be training before they come. You want them to be doing altitude training, like hiking mountains. And wearing like a bandana, covering your breathing. You're making your breathing harder so that you're training your lungs to be able to deal with very low oxygen. That helps a tremendous amount.

And then in the training, what we did was, we did one 8-hour training with the young people, 8 hours. And then the next week we did 12 hours. In the actual trekking, they had to hike almost 16 hours on the last day, from 4 in the morning to 11 at night. So, it's not a joke, it's not a joke. If the young people want to come on that, you really got to make sure that they are not deluded and they're getting ready to hike 14 hours a day. And then get up the next day and do it again. You know what I mean? They have to have gone through that test. If they don't prep properly, they're going to get injured or they may die on the actual trek. That's how dangerous it is. So, if the parents want to send them on this, I recommend they start training now. Don't send your children to die and then blame us for it, when it's your fault. You know what I mean?

So that kind of good training is coming up. This was the second team that went. The second team, they're going to be going with us also to Florida scuba training. They're getting the PADI licenses, they have to go 10-day licensing training. And they will do a scuba training with me, the Queen and the General Inspector next summer as well. That's easier in terms of physical work.

A Life-Changing Experience

But we don't recommend the kids from overseas who have never trained with us to jump into the easy stuff first. We want them to do the hard stuff first. They should earn their respect, earn their stripes. Then they get the respect of all these guys that are with us here. All the guys that are around me in our community, they've all been trained by me, so they're all tough. I've been training them hard.

So, we don't want the kids from overseas just thinking, "We're going to just jump in and be at their level." No, they're blue and purple belts here, and all the kids coming from overseas, they're starting at white belts, so they got to go through the hard stuff first. You want to make sure you tell your kids that. "Don't think you're going there and you're going to be blue and purple. You're going to be white belt."

Make sure you tell them and frame the context correctly. We're not going to treat them like royalty here; they're going to get whooped. They're going to go through training here, so they have to understand that mindset. This is to unlock their epigenetics that God gave them and it's not easy. They're probably going to be barfing the first day. They're probably going to be scared out of their wits when they have to fight other people and do the martial arts Peace Police-Peace Militia training. They'll be very scared and they'll want to quit. So, you want to prep them for that kind of stuff. You don't want to scare them, but you want to prep them. You know what I mean? Very important.

But kids who get through it, many, many of the kids, they have literally life-changing experience and then their life trajectory changes. They go from real lazy, porno addicted, just losers and all of a sudden... Usually we do a three-month training with the Academy. We had kids that could not even do 10 push-ups. By the time they're leaving here,

They're doing 300 push-ups a day.

And they've been training in the martial arts training,

And they've been doing the theological training,

And they've been doing some of the different adventure training,

And they now know how to ride a motorcycle; whatever training they're doing.

And they went parachuting, etc.

So, they really understand Father's culture of training, and training in nature and training the body hard to be a good protector and a warrior for God.

That's really what Christianity is desperately needing because they're creating such soft boys and girls. You walk into a Christian church and there are beta boys everywhere. It's ridiculous. They're so weak; it's ridiculous. It's like a joke. Anybody who's like a real man, goes around that, and says, "Why would I ever want to be like these boys?" You know what I mean? It's just ridiculous. Christianity has become way too soft. That's why the Left and the Communist groomers LGBT are walking right over all the Christian churches.

Father is Strong

Father's culture is strong. Our Father is strong. He's a warrior. He was a wrestler since he was seven years old. He was in multiple wars. He was in death camp, prison camp. This man is a strong man. He's no Hollywood Jesus flying on some surfboard with a toga. Our Father is a strong man. And I as a martial artist, I love that about Father. I love that. I love that about Father!

I mean when we were in Congo and Nigeria, we were trying to get Father onto the plane. Father was giving a speech in Nigeria or Congo and we had to leave, otherwise we have to wait like another day or two. So, everybody's saying, "Oh, please, please, you got to get Father to get on the plane." Father's been speaking like already six hours. So, we're, "Father, we got to get on the plane. We got to go Father. Please, we got to get on the plane." He said, "Come here, boy!" and he smacked me! And I said, "Whoo! Yeh! Daddy!"

And he said, "Tell your wife to come here. Yeonah, come here!" and he grabbed the queen and went, "Wah!" He smacked her. The Queen was traumatized. She was like, "Whoa!"

Father!" In Korea, father-in-law and daughter-in-law is a very tense relationship. Even the women on the plane were saying, "Oh, Father, you struck your daughter-in-law." And Father was like, "I didn't slap my daughter-in-law. I slapped my daughter." But actually, the Queen was traumatized by that. She was like, "Oh, my gosh!" Because she was not trained at that time.

I'm fine with it because a slap is like nothing. I get punched in the face by Thai boxers, professional boxers. I train with these guys, so they hit you in the head. It's not a problem. I just thought it was great. I said, "Father, when you smacked me in the face, I was so proud because man, my Daddy is still young and vibrant; virility, power." Father was so happy. He was so happy because that's the proper attitude.

Because I grew up in the fighting world, so to me, when Father does that, that's love. I'm not some suburban weakling, so for me, that was love. For Father this was the last time he would see those Nigerian children of his. You know what I mean? So, I got no problem being hit in the face. But the Queen had not gone through that kind of training. I had not trained her in boxing or Muay Thai yet. She's more artsy, so she was kind of traumatized by that. But she saw how I reacted, and she said, "Wow, how can you react like that? Whoa!" She said she was very inspired by how I reacted to what Father did. She was angry that she got hit. But then when she heard Father say, "I didn't hit my daughter-in-law. I hit my daughter," she said, "Ah! Father loves me." She realized, "Father loves me."

And then when she understood the context of Father's African children that he may never see again on the physical plane, then of course who cares about a plane ride then, right? So, all those stupid secretaries running around trying to get him on the plane, I should have said, "Shut up and sit down. Let Father speak. If we leave tomorrow, we're leaving tomorrow. We'll go see the giraffes or whatever."

See this is the problem with just academic study; you'll never get this cultural flavor of the Lord. This is the reality and this is what he does with his boy. This is the kind of heartistic landscape we are operating in with Father And it's all love, it's all love; it's all respect. It's all, "My daddy loves me." You know all of that.

But in Western Christianity you can't understand it. Everything becomes so theological; everything becomes so detached from the culture of Christ and his masculine physical presence. You know what I mean? We don't want to lose that.

Anyway, that's a long way to say that if you want to send your kids to do the training, you want to prep them properly, get them physically trained up. We will have that information up so you guys can plug in with Victor Moon and then have the young people also come on those epic, epic conditions and epic training for the next generation. Okay, that's all!
